2 Authorized Users.

2.1 Access to content on JSTOR is available for "Authorized Users", meaning:

(a) individuals who are affiliated with an Institutional Licensee, defined as an institution (such as a college, university, secondary school, public library, museum, foundation, government agency, or research center) that maintains a valid Institutional Participation Agreement with JSTOR. For the purpose of the Institutional Participation Agreement to which these Terms and Conditions apply, "Institutional Licensee(s)" shall consist of the Participating Institutions identified in the Ledger of the Institutional Participation Agreement.

This includes, as applicable:

- i. currently enrolled students (including distance education students);
- ii. on an ad hoc basis, researchers and lecturers affiliated and/or visiting under the terms of an agreement with the Institutional Licensee;
- iii. full and part-time staff;
- iv. on-site users physically present and authorized to be on the Institutional Licensee's premises ("Walk-In Users");

4 Permitted Uses of the Content.

4.1 Institutional Licensees and/or Authorized Users may search, view, reproduce, display, download, print, perform, and distribute Licensed Content for the following Permitted Uses, provided they abide by the restrictions in this Section 4, Section 5 and elsewhere in these Terms and Conditions of Use:

- (a) research activities;
- (b) classroom or organizational instruction and related classroom or organizational activities;
- (c) student assignments;
- (d) as part of a scholarly, cultural, educational or organizational presentation or workshop, if such use conforms to the customary and usual practice in the field;
- (e) authors or other Content creators may at their discretion incorporate their Content (other than Books) into unrestricted databases or website with prior permission from the publisher and other applicable rights holders;
- (f) linking
- (g) Data for Research as defined further in Section 14.3 below.

and for Institutional Licensees and/or Authorized Users other than Register & Read Users:

- (h) on an ad hoc basis and without commercial gain or in a manner that would substitute for direct access to the Content via services offered by JSTOR, sharing discrete portions of Content for purposes of collaboration, comment, or the scholarly exchange of ideas;
- (i) downloading Content (including certain Book chapters where downloading is made available for the Book chapters on the JSTOR Platform) to view, use and display including on a personal digital device (e.g. mobile devices, e-readers, and personal computers);
- (j) (except for Books) in research papers or dissertations, including reproductions of the dissertations, provided such reproductions are only for personal use, library deposit, and/or use solely within the institution(s) with which the Authorized User and/or his or her faculty readers are affiliated; and
- (k) fair use under Section 107 of the U.S. Copyright Act, educational exceptions, or other similar provisions of the copyright laws or other intellectual property right laws in the United States.

4.2 The portions of Licensed Content that have been downloaded or printed out by an Authorized User may continue to be used in compliance with these Terms and Conditions even if such license should later terminate or expire.

4.3 Additional Permitted Uses of the Early Journal Content. JSTOR encourages broad use of the Early Journal Content. In addition to all permitted uses described above, users are free to copy, use, and redistribute the Early Journal Content in part or in whole for non-commercial purposes.

JSTOR asks that you acknowledge JSTOR as the source of the Early Journal Content; if you use material from JSTOR online, we request that you link directly to the stable URL provided. If you use Early Journal Content offline, we ask that you credit the source as follows: "Courtesy of JSTOR."

Please be considerate of other users and do not use robots or other devices or coordinate activity to systematically download these works as this may be disruptive to our systems.

4.4 Use of Open Access Content. Open Access Content may be subject to different terms of use, such as a Creative Commons license, as indicated in the copyright statement for the content. If an Open Access Content item has different terms posted where the content appears, those terms shall have precedence over these Terms and Conditions of Use.

5 Prohibited Uses of the Content.

Institutions and users may not:

(a) use or authorize the use of the JSTOR Platform or Content for commercial purposes or gains, including charging a fee-for-service for the use of JSTOR beyond reasonable printing or administrative costs. For purposes of clarification, "commercial purposes or gains" shall not include research whose end-use is commercial in nature.

(b) except as set forth above, provide and/or authorize access to the Content available through Individual Access, the Publisher Sales Service, or other programs to persons or entities other than Authorized Users;

(c) attempt to override, circumvent, or disable any encryption features or software protections employed in the JSTOR Platform;

(d) undertake any activity such as the use of computer programs that automatically download or export Content, commonly known as web robots, spiders, crawlers, wanderers or accelerators that may interfere with, disrupt or otherwise burden the JSTOR server(s) or any third-party server(s) being used or accessed in connection with JSTOR; or

(e) undertake coordinated or systematic activity between or among two or more individuals and/or entities that, in the aggregate, constitutes downloading and/or distributing a significant portion of the Content; or

(f) make any use, display, performance, reproduction, or distribution that exceeds or violates these Terms and Conditions of Use.

Additionally, for Content other than the Early Journal Content, Institutions and users may not:

(g) modify, obscure, or remove any copyright notice or other attribution included in the Content;

(h) incorporate Content into an unrestricted database or website, except as provided in 4.1(e) above;

(i) systematically print out or download Content to stock or replace print holdings;

(j) download or print, or attempt to download or print an entire issue of a journal (unless such entire issue has been purchased through the Publisher Sales Service) or substantial portions of the entire run of a journal, except for the specific case in which the complete contents of a journal issue or a substantial portion of Content (e.g. a series of scholarly essays) is relevant to the particular research; or

(k) reproduce or distribute Content in bulk, such as the inclusion of Content including portions of Content (e.g., Book chapters, individual articles and/or journal issues) or Content in course packs, electronic reserves, repositories, or organizational intranets (but see Section 4.1(f) above).

7 Interlibrary Loan.

Institutional Licensees may fulfill requests from other libraries for textual Content, namely Back Issues, Current Issues, and Books, a practice commonly called Interlibrary Loan. Institutional Licensee agrees to fulfill such requests in accordance with Sections 107 and 108 of the U.S. Copyright Act or in accordance with other international copyright laws (in particular German copyright law), guidelines, or conventions, provided that such use is not at a volume that would substitute for a subscription to the journal or acquisition of access to a Book. For Books, this shall mean Interlibrary Loan shall be restricted to a single copy of a Book chapter. Under German copyright law for Books this shall mean Interlibrary Loan shall be restricted to 10% of the Book. Requests may be fulfilled using secure electronic, paper, or intermediated means.

8 Responsibilities of Users.

8.1 Access. Institutional Licensees shall make reasonable efforts to ensure that access to the Licensed Content is limited to Authorized Users and to protect the Licensed Content from unpermitted use, including but not limited to by issuing and terminating passwords within its control, verifying the status of Authorized User, providing lists of valid passwords or set of IP addresses to JSTOR if applicable, updating such lists on a regular basis and providing any information or assistance necessary for JSTOR to implement whatever user authentication processes JSTOR may establish in its sole discretion. Authorized Users shall be responsible for maintaining the confidentiality and security of his or her username and/or password (if such are provided), and for all usage or activity by them of JSTOR and may not provide access to JSTOR to anyone else.

8.2 Unpermitted Use. Institutional Licensees and Authorized Users shall notify JSTOR of any such unpermitted use of which they learn or are notified, including but not limited to any known or suspected unauthorized use(s) of an individual or institutional account or unauthorized use of JSTOR, or any known or suspected breach of security, including loss, theft, or unauthorized disclosure of a username, password, and/or IP address, and shall work cooperatively with JSTOR to resolve problems of unpermitted use. In the event of violation of these Terms and Conditions of Use by an Authorized User, (a) JSTOR may suspend or terminate, or, where practicable, request that Institutional Licensee suspend or terminate, such Authorized User's access to the Licensed Content; (b) JSTOR may suspend or terminate the access of the Internet Protocol ("IP") address(es) or other authorization and authentication mechanisms from which such unauthorized use occurred; and/or (c) JSTOR may request Institutional Licensee to consider the imposition of further reasonable restrictions on access to, and downloading and printing from, the JSTOR Platform. JSTOR shall make reasonable efforts to contact the Institutional Licensee prior to any suspension or termination of access and to restore access promptly following successful resolution of the matter.

8.3 Posted Material. Where Authorized Users are able to submit material and/or post comments on the JSTOR Platform, they represent and warrant that they will not upload or otherwise publish through JSTOR any materials that: (a) are protected by copyright, or other proprietary or intellectual property rights; (b) are libelous, defamatory, obscene, pornographic, abusive, or invasive of another's privacy or hateful; or (c) contain a virus, spyware, or other harmful component, advertising of any kind, or false or misleading indications of origin or statements of fact. Authorized Users acknowledge and agree that any material that they submit or comments that they post may be edited, removed, modified, and/or published by JSTOR without notice.

9 Intellectual Property Rights.

9.1 General Intellectual Property Rights. The JSTOR Platform and any trademarks, issued patents and patent applications, copyrights and copyright registrations and applications, rights in ideas, designs, works of authorship, derivative works, and all other intellectual property rights (collectively, "Intellectual Property") relating to the JSTOR Platform and its participating libraries, universities, publishers, scholarly societies, and journals are proprietary to JSTOR or, as applicable, the aforementioned entities, subject to the rights of third parties.

9.2 Trademarks. Neither JSTOR nor Institutional Licensee may use the other's name or trademark and Institutional Licensees and users may not use the name or trademarks of the above-noted entities without approval except: (i) JSTOR may use Institutional Licensees' names and/or the names of their libraries in brochures or other materials to identify Institutional Licensees as participants in JSTOR along with other participants, and (ii) Institutional Licensees are encouraged to use JSTOR's name and logo to announce participation to Authorized Users and to train Authorized Users on the use of JSTOR.

14.3 14.3 Data for Research is a JSTOR program for research activities involving computational analysis rather than for purposes of understanding the intellectual meaning of such content. Data for Research users will be able to (i) search the JSTOR archive using the Data for Research search function; (ii) download chart data to view, use and display as Excel-compatible CSV files; (iii) view document-level data including word frequencies, citations, key terms and ngrams; requesting and downloading datasets containing word frequencies, citations, key terms, or ngrams associated with the Data for Research selected; and (iv) subject to registration with JSTOR and at JSTOR's discretion, access additional data via a method prescribed by JSTOR. For the purpose of clarity, Data for Research is not limited to Licensed Content. Additional use of Data for Research and access to a custom dataset are subject to JSTOR's approval. Please see the Data for Research registration page for further information <http://dfr.jstor.org/accounts/register/>. The Prohibited Uses described in Section 5 above apply also to uses of Data for Research.

METADATA SHARING RIDER

This Metadata Rider (this "Rider") is an addendum to and incorporates by reference all of the terms of the agreement entitled JSTOR Institutional Participation Agreement between JSTOR and Licensee on behalf of the Participating Institutions (the "Agreement") and any amendments or riders thereto.

- 1. Grant of License. JSTOR grants Licensee respectively Participating Institutions a non-exclusive license to access and use information that describes and identifies content in the JSTOR archive ("Metadata") under the following limited terms and conditions.
- 2. Scope of Use. Licensee respectively Participating Institutions shall use the Metadata solely for the purpose of developing non-commercial indices on local and union catalogues and/or to build links to content in the JSTOR Archive in order to enable Authorized Users (as defined in the Terms and Conditions of Use, as amended and incorporated into the Agreement) to access the links created with the Metadata. In the course of using the Metadata for the permitted purposes, Licensee respectively Participating Institutions shall be permitted to manipulate the Metadata. Although users who are not Authorized Users may encounter the Metadata through a computer network, it is understood that only users who are Authorized Users will be able to fully access the Content in the JSTOR Archive through the links created with the Metadata. All other users shall encounter an "access denied" page on JSTOR's website, which at JSTOR's discretion, may direct these users to other mechanisms of accessing the requested Content.
- 3. Technical Developments. In recognition of ongoing development in the area of discovery of scholarly resources, the JSTOR, Licensee, and its Members shall cooperate in communicating about possible further uses of Metadata in connection with such developments. Notwithstanding the foregoing, nothing set forth herein shall obligate either party to agree to modify the Scope of Use of the Metadata as described herein.
- 4. Delivery of Metadata. Upon receipt of a fully executed copy of the Agreement, JSTOR shall begin to supply Licensee with Metadata not previously received in a mutually agreed upon format. Licensee in turn may deliver the Metadata to its Members.

5. No Further Distribution. Licensee respectively Participating Institutions may distribute the Metadata to employees solely on an as-needed basis in order to fulfill the aims of this Rider. Licensee respectively Participating Institutions and their employees shall not distribute the Metadata to any third party other than contractors developing the resources described in this Rider, provided that any such contractors shall be bound by agreements restricting the further distribution of the Metadata. Under no circumstances shall Licensee respectively Participating Institutions or their employees, contractors, or agents distribute the Metadata to other library and information systems, including but not limited to search engines of commercial corporations. For purposes of clarification, mere interaction with the Metadata by a user accessing the indices and links contemplated under this Rider through a computer network, with no transfer of a copy of the Metadata files, shall not constitute further distribution.

6. Disclaimer. THE METADATA SHALL BE PROVIDED ON AN "AS IS" BASIS, AND JSTOR EXPRESSLY DISCLAIMS ANY AND ALL WARRANTIES, CONDITIONS, OR REPRESENTATIONS (EXPRESS, IMPLIED, ORAL OR WRITTEN), RELATING TO THE METADATA OR ANY PART THEREOF, INCLUDING, WITHOUT LIMITATION, ANY AND ALL IMPLIED WARRANTIES OF QUALITY, PERFORMANCE, COMPATIBILITY, MERCHANTABILITY OR FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE.

7. Term and Termination. The term of this Rider shall be consistent with the term of the Agreement. Notwithstanding the foregoing, termination of the Agreement by one Participating Institution shall not limit the right of other Participating Institutions to continue to use the Metadata, provided they continue to be subject to and are in compliance with the Agreement. JSTOR reserves the right to terminate Licensee's respectively Participating Institutions' license to use the Metadata in the event of a material breach of the terms of this Rider that is not cured within thirty (30) days of JSTOR providing written notice. On termination of the Agreement or this Rider for any reason, Licensee respectively Participating Institutions shall delete and cease using the Metadata and shall delete all links to JSTOR content developed through use of the Metadata.
