

The Rockefeller University Press

Auszug aus dem Lizenzvertrag 2013-2015
Abridged version of License Agreement 2013-2015

[...]

Internet Access is defined as the viewing and use of the Online Journals' content via the World Wide Web.

For non-academic non-profit organizations, Authorized Users are authenticated, authorized current members of the staff (whether on a permanent, temporary or contract basis), guest scientists and members of another organization with which with the Max-Planck Society is working together in a common scientific project, and independent contractors who are permitted to access the Institutional Subscriber's network from within its premises or from such other places where Authorized Users undertake their work. Walk-in users are considered Authorized Users only for the time they are physically present on the premises of a site.

[...]

Authorized Users include full and part-time employees, staff, guest scientists and members of other organizations with which with the Max-Planck Society is working together in a common scientific project, and independent contractors affiliated with the organization.

In consideration of the payment of the appropriate subscription fees, the Max-Planck Society and the Publisher agree to the following guidelines:

1. The Max-Planck Society will establish proper authentication and verification processes to ensure that only Authorized Users can access the Online Journals.
2. The Publisher maintains the Online Journals as a service to faculty, students, and staff, guest scientists and members of other organizations with which with the Max-Planck Society is working together in a common scientific project, and to the scientific/technical/medical community. The Publisher holds the copyright for all works published in the Online Journals, as a compilation and as to the individual articles, collectively and individually, unless otherwise expressly noted.
3. All use of the Online Journals content is subject to applicable copyright law, and reproduction of the Online Journals' content is allowed only as follows:
 - a. Downloading: Downloading, printing, or saving of the Online Journals' content for personal, non-commercial use is permissible. Systematic downloading (including downloading by robots or other automatic processes) is prohibited without explicit permission from the Publisher.
 - b. Commercial Redistribution: No commercial use (e.g., downloading, posting of a file, onward online or offline distribution, or printing to resell or distribute) of any articles is permitted without prior, express written permission from the Publisher.
 - c. Inter-Library Loan: Inter-Library Loan of articles or components in any electronic or digital form to those other than Authorized Users, for the purposes of research or private study, is allowed under CONTU (National Commission on New Technological Uses of Copyright Works) guidelines, which provides that up to five copies of articles from any one journal published within the previous five years or less may be requested by another library in any one year.

[www.cni.org/docs/infopols/CONTU.html]

d. Braille Transcription: Max-Planck may transcribe any portion of the Online Journals into Braille script or enlarged type for Authorized Users who are visually impaired.

e. Course Packs and E-Reserve: Authors of articles published in the Online Journals who are faculty members of the Institutional Subscriber:

*may use those articles in any course pack they compile without charge

*may store their articles in electronic reserve rooms for access by their students as part of their course work, and for in-house training programs of the contributor's employer

[...]

5. Max-Planck agrees to the following:

a. The Max-Planck Society is responsible for creating and maintaining reasonable security measures and posting policies consistent with the rights and restrictions described in these guidelines to ensure that only Authorized Users can access the Online Journals.

[...]

b. If the Max-Planck Society becomes aware of unauthorized access to the Online Journals, it will notify the Publisher immediately and cooperate in locating and attempting to stop the specific individuals who are abusing the service.

[...]

c. The Max-Planck Society agrees not to remove, cover, overlay, obscure, block, or change any copyright notices, legends, or terms of use which the Publisher may post on the site in order to inform users about system features, terms of use, or copyright notices.

d. The Max-Planck Society shall not modify or create a derivative work of any of the Online Journals' content without prior written permission from the Publisher.

[...]